

EVS Again Named a Top 40 Metal Fabrication Shop by "The Fabricator" Magazine

EVS Metal, an American provider of quality precision sheet metal fabrications and complex machined items, was recently named to "The Fabricator" magazine's list of Fab 40 manufacturers. Having made this prestigious list since its inception, EVS is proud and honored to be included for 2016.

Riverdale, New Jersey (PRWEB) June 17, 2016 -- EVS Metal was recently named a Fab 40 manufacturer for 2016 by "The Fabricator" magazine, landing at number 20. As a provider of quality precision sheet metal fabrications and complex machined items, we are proud of our inclusion on this prestigious list once again.

“Although we’ve been a part of the Fab 40 since its inception, it never ceases to be a great honor for EVS Metal,” said Joe Amico, co-founder and vice president. “With more than 1200 manufacturers reporting, inclusion on the list is a meaningful designation. With the support of our customers, we plan on continuing our growth as one of the most trusted companies in the metal fabrication industry.”

In addition to ranking the top U.S. metal fabricators by total revenue, the Fab 40 also outlines some important industry facts and trends, painting a complete picture of fabrication as a whole, rather than providing only a basic distillation of the numbers. For instance, although total revenues for the Fab 40 were only very slightly higher in 2016 vs 2015 ($2.16B vs $2.15B), total employment showed a solid increase, up 5%, with the majority of companies predicting and preparing for significant growth over the long term. In this way, EVS is no exception. With revenue expected to increase by as much as $3M year over year, we are investing in the people, processes and equipment to ensure we are able to consistently meet our current customers’ needs for quality and efficiency while continuing to attract new business at the same time.
